Preliminary Conclusion of the OECD GSF report

- Analysis of 26 case studies merit consideration by policy makers and other actors.
- TDR is required to address societal challenges.
- Significant obstacles limit implementation of TDR.
 - traditional disciplinary structures,
 - norms and practices of our science systems
- amenable to judicious policy intervention.
- Governments, research agencies, research institutions and international bodies all have a role to play.
- Many good practices to build on.
- Mutual learning, collaboration, and exchange are required at the policy level as well as at the practitioner level.

Innovative co-produced open online course starts 30. March 2020:
